UW LEND traineeship discipline

I am an Occupational Therapy trainee finishing up my Masters Degree at the University of Washington.

I have lived in the Seattle area most of my life and went to the UW for my undergraduate education, graduating with a degree in Psychology.

I love working with families and have had the privilege of previously working to support families in many capacities including as a birth doula and cooperative preschool teacher.

I am interested in Autism and excited to learn more about IDD advocacy and interdisciplinary practice.

I am married with three grown children. In my spare time I enjoy hiking, cross-country skiing, and playing board games with friends and family.
