School Psychology

About Me:

- I was born and raised in Washington, but I completed undergrad at the University of Kentucky.
- I spent three years as a school psychologist in Federal Way Public Schools before entering the doctoral program at UW.
- I'm excited to learn more about:
 - collaborating with children, families, communities, and other disciplines
 - centering the cultural strengths, knowledge, and identities of those we serve.
- In my free time I love watching comic book movies, reading fantasy novels, and listening to musicals.
