

Claire Hillier (she/her)

Genetic Counseling Student

I grew up in Bellevue, Washington and studied music and human biology at Stanford University. As an aspiring pediatric genetic counselor, I look forward to learning more about how best to support, guide, and provide resources for families whose children have neurodevelopmental disorders. Outside of school, I enjoy running with my husband and two Australian Shepherd dogs, playing cello, and going hiking.