

Wei Siong Neo, M.S. (he/him/his)

UW LEND Psychology Resident

- I was born and raised in Singapore, a country in Southeast Asia that is roughly the size of New York City.
- My undergraduate and graduate education have all been in the United States; I am currently working toward my Ph.D. in clinical psychological sciences (Purdue University).
- Outside of school/work, I enjoy biking, hiking, running, and sports in general.
- For the UW LEND program, I am most excited about its multidisciplinary aspects – from professional learning to casual conversations!
