Access to Information: R2WFG provides families with relevant information on programs, services, and resources available for neurodiverse individuals.

Speaker Sessions: Inviting experts and speakers to address the group provides valuable insights and guidance on various aspects of neurodiversity, education, employment, housing, financial/legal and transition planning.

Quarterly Hands-On Workshops: Quarterly hands-on workshops available for personalized support in navigating the complexities of educational, governmental, and mental health systems in support of neurodiverse family members.

Community Support: The sense of community that R2WFG offers is a welcome respite for families who may feel isolated or overwhelmed.

Networking Opportunities: R2WFG facilitates networking opportunities for families by connecting with other families, educators, professionals, and organizations.

Family Panel Forums: Transitions can be emotionally challenging for both neurodiverse individuals and their families. R2WFG provides a safe space for families to share their emotions, experiences, and coping strategies. Benefit from the wisdom of experienced families who have navigated the transition process. Gain insights and guidance from those who have been there.

Advocacy: Sharing opportunities to advocate for greater awareness and improved support systems for neurodiverse individuals in the community and the numerous systems that impact our loved ones. Together, we can drive positive change.

WHO WE ARE

A dedicated resource hub for families with neurodiverse members. Our mission is to provide resources, connections, and a nurturing community to assist families as they navigate the journey from high school to post-secondary education and beyond. We recognize the unique challenges faced by neurodiverse individuals and their loved ones, and we're here to lend a helping hand.
